9) Civic addresses are generally given to high personages (vide O.M. dated 20.7.42) as otherwise such functions would perhaps have no significance. In this view, the presentation of an address to the D.P.J. cannot perhaps be considered to be appropriate unveiling of the portrait of Mahatma Gandhi is not a relevant point to be considered in the case the point is simply whether an officer on tour can address as per the G.O. irrespective of the nature of the functions he attended to. It would have been quite possible for the Mlg- to have the portrait unveiled by the D.P.J. without presenting an address as per G.O. the Mlg- ought to have taken the previous sanction of Govt in all such cases. However this is agreed as a special case. But the Mlg- may be informed that this should not be taken [illegible]
